History of the CCC November 12, 2006

The Civilian Conservation Corps, or CCC, was begun by Franklin

Delano Roosevelt in 1933 and proved to be one of the New Deal's most notable successes. While at the time it provided much needed employment for millions of jobless young men, in the succeeding years it has become recognized by some as the most important conservation project ever undertaken in America's parks. On Sunday, November 12, 2006, at 2:00 p.m. in the Metuchen Public Library, Peter Osborne of the Minisink Valley Historical Society will reveal the rich legacy left by the Civilian Conservation Corps in New Jersey. Light refreshments will be served following the program.

The Society's annual Metuchen-Edison Local History Day will be held on Sunday, February 11, 2007 at the Metuchen Public Library from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. As in years past, this popular event will feature the Society's collection of Grimstead photographs and local history memorabilia from the collections.

This year's event will also feature documents and objects from the recently acquired Litterst Collection, as featured in the Summer 2006 edition of Nannygoats. Society merchandise and publications will be available for sale during the event, and we will also be taking orders for Grimstead photograph reproductions.
