Tired with wandering through a world of sin
Hither we come to natures common inn
To rest our wearied bodies for a night
In hope to rise in natures truest light
This world a city full of crooked streets
And death the market place where allmen meet.
The common story is that Thomas Harper was standing out in the great storm of 1835 and when advised by some one to enter the inn which then stood opposite the church he uttered the most profane oaths declaring he would not fear God until he felt his power was instantly struck with a piece of timber from the falling church and died four days afterward.
