

The Metuchen-Edison Historical Society

proudly presents a free, virtual program featuring

Todd DeFeo

author of

The Northeast Corridor

The Northeast Corridor between Boston and Washington is perhaps the single most significant stretch of railroad in the country, connecting dozens of cities like Baltimore, Philadelphia, and New York City. The line carries thousands of passengers daily on a line formed from a patchwork of some of the earliest railroads in America.

DeFeo has studied railroads since growing up in Metuchen alongside the Northeast Corridor. He is editor of Railfanning.org and founder of The DeFeo Groupe. The images in this book come from some of the many libraries, museums, and organizations dedicated to preserving railroad history, the archives of Railfanning.org, and the author's personal collection.

Thursday, April 15, 2021 at 7:30pm

Online via Zoom – Free & Open to the Public

Advance Registration Required

(visit our website or contact metuchenedisonhistory@gmail.com)

Presentation will be preceded by a brief business meeting serving as the Society's Annual Meeting

Copies of DeFeo's book will be available for sale through the Society

www.metuchen-edisonhistsoc.org